

Kathy Mahoney

Kathy is a Massachusetts native but has loved being in Southern NH the past few years. Her Catholic faith was nurtured during her years studying at St. Anselm College in Manchester. She is a nurse who has worked primarily in the mental health and addiction fields. Her faith later brought her to meet her beloved husband Peter (in the Lord's time!) and they are active members of St. Matthew's Church in Windham, particularly in the music ministry. Kathy previously volunteered with Habitat for Humanity, holding the belief that having a safe home provides a foundation for the healing of many challenges, and rooting that foundation in the Catholic faith also provides stability and consistency for young women whose lives have often been very chaotic.
